Review of 2023 with the best photos

Our review of 2023 makes us very grateful, because this year, for the first time, we were able to spend five and a half months travelling in our motorhome, with only brief interruptions. For years, we have dreamed of travelling for really long periods in our motorhome. That's exactly our thing. We love going on discovery tours. Before travelling, we only have a rough tour plan, then we often just let ourselves drift. And the best thing about our way of travelling is the discoveries and topics that come up by chance.

We love spending time in nature, for example experiencing a fantastic sunrise with its silence early in the morning, wandering through forests or mountains. Or discovering cities and places and letting them have an effect on us. There was plenty of opportunity to do this in 2023. In our photographic review of the year, you can experience some of our most beautiful impressions and moments.

Spring began for us with an extended stay in our second home, the Bavarian Forest. We had never experienced it so beautifully, even though we had already been there around sixty times. Then we travelled to the Alpine region for a month. Specifically to Berchtesgaden, and then to the East Tyrol region in Austria. We then started a new travel theme in autumn 2023. In the photographic review of the year, we're still keeping a bit of a lid on the new tour, which we'll be starting with new videos on our YouTube channel from mid/end January 2024. Let us surprise you. But perhaps you'll discover where we're heading on our new journey from one or two of the images in the photo gallery. This much can be revealed: we'll be travelling through four countries.

We are delighted to be able to share our very personal review of the year with you. Perhaps we can inspire you to travel to new destinations and make your own discoveries.
